

CHICAGO (November 10, 2011) – Hyatt Hotels & Resorts announced today that Hotel Sierra Green Bay officially changed its name to Hyatt on Main, Green Bay.

Hyatt on Main, Green Bay, offers comfortable luxury and Midwestern hospitality in Wisconsin's oldest city. The hotel features 241 guestrooms and 17 flexible meeting and event venues. Guests have access to a 24 hour business center, airport shuttle service, a fitness center featuring a sauna, a steam room and indoor pool and whirlpool. The Pub, Hyatt on Main, Green Bay's restaurant, offers guests seasonal American cuisine.

"The synergy of our exceptional staff coupled with the distinctive Hyatt brand experience is a combination that can't be beat," said Maria Skubal, general manager, Hyatt on Main. "We are more committed than ever to providing our guests with a memorable, distinctive experience."

Of all hotels in the area, Hyatt on Main, Green Bay is the only hotel that has the KI Convention Center as its adjoining neighbor. The property is within short driving distance to Bay Beach Historical Amusement Park and historic Lambeau Field.

"We are thrilled to be in Green Bay, as we think the Hyatt brand and marketing infrastructure can attract a great combination of both leisure and business travelers to the area," said Marc Ellin, senior vice president of field operations for Hyatt. "We look forward to bringing Hyatt's authentic hospitality to the people and visitors of Green Bay."

"We are delighted to welcome Hyatt to downtown Green Bay," said Jim Schmitt, Mayor of Green Bay. "The Hyatt name and brand elevates our status as a first class city for business travelers and tourists."
